“ I have known Butch since we both attended church on Highland Parkway. He had a great sense of humor, especially when he would hide my chocolate donuts in Sunday school class. He will be greatly missed.

“ My boys knew him as Pappaw and he was the only grandfather my sisters and I have ever known. There is not a childhood memory that does not have Butch in it. He loved dogs, music, motorcycles, sweet tea, his church, and his family. He also loved our Mammaw and our mammaw (Earcie) adored him. He seemed to love to see her fired up. The more “fired up0 she got, the more he laughed. I will never forget his laughter and love for all us girls.
