“ I first met Don somewhere between the age of 16-18. I learned a great deal from him about dignity and kindness. I remember the encouragement he gave me when I returned from Vietnam. I remember our conversations about the importance of an education. Later when I had children and we would visit in Frankfort; I remember how my gentle and loving youngest son would reach up and take Don's hand when we crossed a street or were walking - not because he was asked to do so but because he chose Don. The painful memories are visiting the veteran's home and seeing that kind and caring soul trapped in the body that failed him. Even in that situation his marvelous Spirit radiated out. Even then I always left with the sense that Don made the focus of the meeting me and what was going on in my life and not his. In that most difficult time of his life the great, strong and caring soul of my friend Don Stice was present. There are few men I have met in my life that I want to emulate and be more like - Don Stice is at the top of the list. I am thankful to God for setting Him free and for allowing me the gift of knowing and loving who he is. Thanks Don for the memories and the wisdom given to a young man who so desperately needed it.

“ Uncle Don was one of the kindest, most loving men I have ever known. Every time we were together, he would tell the story of me eating my favorite snack as a very young child and just what a mess I made. Covered with ketchup (from my saltine crackers and ketchup sandwiches- gross!), I looked up at him and said, "I'm a mess ain't I?" Every time he told this story, his eyes would sparkle and I could see just how much he cared.

Until we meet again...

Don was a wonderful caring man....he made us laugh, he shared his talents and truly gave his heart to those he loved. His struggles on this earth have been great but he had many who loved him, respected him, and were truly blessed just by knowing him. Rest in Peace Don.....your trials here are over.....See you in Heaven.....Love you.

Rest in peace, Cuz. Words can not express all the sorrow I and the rest of the Henson family feel tonight. Don made everybody`s lives brighter by his wit, personality, and laughter. I personally cant forget having the facts of life explained to me as we shared a campfire out in the back of Woodson`s property. My parents were too nervous and unsure how to explain them to me, Don filled in admirably. Loved him and all my cousins with all my heart. Forever, Don, Your Cousin Jim Henson.

My memories of Cousin Don go back to my earliest childhood, and our regular family trips from Oklahoma to Kentucky. It was always great to see him, even though I was much younger and didn't really get to know him as well as I would have liked. It's clear from these testimonials that Don had a great positive influence on many people. I'm so glad he was part of my life. Rest in peace, Don . . .
