“ I worked for Jim in the Engineering Department at Hanes Knitwear when I was fresh out of college in 1977. I remember him very well and was sad to learn of his passing. The two things I remember best about him were his attitude and his work ethic. He was an excellent engineer and was very easy to work for. I appreciated his friendliness and humor. Jim was down to earth, and. I always felt very comfortable working for him. He treated me and everyone in our office with respect and kindness. Never once did I hear an unkind or negative remark about Jim. Although I had not seen him in 40 years or so, I never forgot the enjoyable experience of working for him. (Actually, after all these years and all the jobs I have had since then, working for the engineers at Hanes remains my best work memory!) My thoughts and prayers are with Jim's loved ones.
