“ Jeff was a great guy that could always make you laugh. He showed me how to deer hunt, but even more, inspired me when he told me he started a Bible study at his job. The world needs more men like him.

“ I worked for Jeff during summers and school breaks for almost 12 years while he was the warehouse manager at IBT. I really looked up to Jeff. He taught me good work ethic, how to play poker, how to shoot a bow, among other important life traits. “Grandpa don't own the place no more” is what he would tell me if I was slacking off at work (always made me laugh), and followed quickly by “got something special for you” (usually a not-so-fun job to counter my slack). I loved his countless stories of him and his friends growing up. Always had a great sense of humor. And he always lightened the mood, no matter what the situation was (inappropriate or not). He loved his son, Trent, very much. Every single day, he would talk and talk about his boy. Having sons of my own now, I know how much he loved Trent. Trent and family, I am very sorry for your loss. I'm glad I got to share time with him for all of those years.

“ I was very saddened and shocked to hear of Jeff’s passing. To say that we were friends in school would be an understatement. We spent a lot of time running around Frankfort, doing a lot of things we shouldn’t have been doing! LOL! I could tell stories for hours about all of things we got into back in the day. I send prayers and healing to his family during this difficult time.
