“ I just found this website and I believe this is an obituary for Joyce Weidman, DVM, who graduated from vet school at UC Davis. If this is that person, she was the veterinarian for my cat in Fairfax, California in the late 1990s. Joyce was absolutely great -- taking wonderful care of my diabetic cat. One thing I liked about Joyce was that she was full of common sense. Sometimes vets are off in La-La land, treating animals the way the books advise, but completely missing real-life realities. Joyce was grounded. She was SO good to my diabetic cat and I will never forget the care Joyce gave the cat and me. I was so sad when Joyce left Fairfax -- I think she moved to Hawaii for a while. And now I am sorry to hear of Joyce's death at the young age of 61. How sad. She was a jewel of a veterinarian. More like her are needed.
