“ We lived down the street from Bobby and Carrie when we first married. When our daughter was a toddler she just called him "Bemiss!". He always laughed recalling the episode when she got out of the house totally unclothed and ran across the front yards on Belvoir Drive towards his house calling out "Beeeeemissssss!" joyfully. We moved when she was still very young, but he would remind her of it when he saw her working at McDonalds in her teen years and he came in for his Senior coffee. We will miss him very much.

“ I had the privilege of working with Bob at Investors Heritage for 39 years. He had a way for handling stress at work - he would go outside, enjoy a smoke, then come back in and finish whatever his task was. His ethical and moral qualities were the highest. I was a guest in his home several times, a real treat for me. Carrie, bless your heart, you were the perfect soul mate. Thank you for being a friend to all.

Blessings to you,
