Ronnie never met a stranger; he could talk to anyone. He loved helping people and had a generous heart, frequently giving things to others with a need. He often filled the food blessing box at his church.

“ I went to school at Bald Knob with Ronnie, Donnie and Cathy. You loose contact with classmates when all go their separate way, but you never forget them. I’m so sorry to hear this. These holidays seem to make everything a lot sadder for the years to come. I lost my Dad before Christmas. I remember Ronnie as a great guy in school. I want to send all my love and prayers to all the family.

“ When we were kids we hunted and played all over Bald Knob. We would give rabbits to people and they would give us shotgun shells. In the afternoon, our Grandfather would have us take his horses up the hill to the pond for a drink. When they saw their shadows, they would buck us off into the pond. We would fight but were really close. Rest In Peace and I will always love you. Your Brother, Donnie.
