“ My deepest condolences to all the family! What a beautiful light in the world Jane was! Her sunny personality, kindness, and sweet nature will never be forgotten.

She is my third-cousin-once-removed. She and my dad Ray Moretti are third-cousins. We are related through the Guidi family. Were it not for the 25-person restrictions, I would be there to pay my respects. Now Sarah Jane is the last of the Perry siblings to go to heaven. What lovely gatherings we used to have at the farm in Bald Knob or at Jane's, we actually had family reunions that were not held at funeral homes. I hope those left behind will continue the tradition that Jane and her sisters and brother started, having those reunions that meant so much. I remember going out to the old farm as a child for those reunions.

Jane always recognized and spoke with me whenever we would run into each other in the store or at Good Shepherd. At the Nursing Home before the Pandemic when I asked for Jane Perry's room, they never knew who I was talking about, because of course her first name is Sarah, and she and Clarence were married. But our family has always known her as Jane Perry, because my Dad always talked about 'the Perry twins' Jean and Jane. When we lived on Louisville Road in the 60's and 70's, Jane and Clarence would let Carolyn come down to play with me in our back yard sometimes, I remember swinging on the swing with her. Jane was a wonderful Mother, Grandmother, Sister, and Daughter. She never met a stranger, once a friend always a friend.

Jane and I shared a bond because we have both lost sons. She comforted me many times and I felt very close to her. The last time I saw her was in January, and wish I had visited again before the Covid restrictions kept us away from the facility. Jane was always sharp and kept her wits about her, she was well-read and knew about current events. When my mom Ramona was in FC&R, Jane would come down to the South hall and visit her. Jane always cared about others and if she knew someone decades ago and had not seen them in that long, she still would talk with them like they had spoken yesterday. She was a model of friendliness and a genuine, real person who treated everyone like a brother or sister.

Remember this is not the end, you will see her again where there are no more tears or pain.
